Senator Ingalls' speech on Monday night the Democrats who heard it said, with their characteristic modesty, that it was the most brilliant effort of the campaign. Ingalls is a Republican, but his position as a leader in the Senate and those pre-luded the probability of his re-election by the Republican party to that body.

The Senatorial Conference for this Senatorial district met in Mansfield, Tioga county, yesterday. Hon. James Lemoy, Jr. of this county was nominated on the first ballot after which the nomination was made unanimous. The Tioga county Republicans are now at work and elect every man on it.

It is hoped that politics has reached so low an ebb in Lycoming county as to make it possible that such a blatherskite as W. W. Hinman, Jr. be nominated for the State Senate by the Democratic party has just nominated. This follow for the most part by from Luzerne to Clearfield, the most contemptible set of [illegible] ever [illegible]

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases, of them is a large and long list, including as it does all the well-known and reliable remedies for the cure of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Humors, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaints, Female Weaknesses, and the early stages of Consumption. Every year adds to the number of its cures, and to the strength of the confidence reposed in it by the people. Hence it is the only blood medicine of which it is safe to say, in view of its unparalleled record of cures, that it is

The Most Reliable Remedy Known.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine that can be depended upon when a powerful alterative is required. It is the only blood medicine that can be taken with certainty of good results by the weak, the delicate, and the young. It is the only blood medicine that can be taken by children with perfect safety. It is the only blood medicine that can be taken with the knowledge that it contains no mercury, mineral, or other dangerous drug. It is the only blood medicine that can be taken with the certainty that it will not salivate, or in any way injure the teeth, gums, or throat, or cause any of the disagreeable effects which follow the use of mercurial preparations. It is the only blood medicine that can be taken with the certainty that it will not constipate, but will leave the bowels in a healthy condition. It is the only blood medicine that can be taken with the certainty that it will not interfere with the most delicate stomach, or with any kind of food that may be eaten. TEMPERANCE COLUMN

A TEMPERANCE WOMAN.

Her Strong Argument as to the Duty of Prohibitionists.

We commend the following words of that most eminent temperance worker, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, to the attention of those of our readers who imagine they are doing service to "God, country and home" by advocating the election of St. John, and voting for the election of Cleveland. Mrs Foster can hardly be called a "partisan" or friend of the rum power.

Rev. E. K. Young, D. D., Des Moines, Iowa

My Dear Friend: My allegiance in public work is first of all due to the Woman's Christian temperance union. I believe that as a national organization we should be non-partisan in our attitude toward the political questions of the day, even toward party prohibition. It is my sincere conviction, strengthened by a personal knowledge of the work the country over, that the overthrow of the liquor traffic will be soonest accomplished if our organizations withhold party effort and give themselves wholly to the regular lines of temperance work which have been developed by God's providence during the ten years since the crusade. We have some twenty five distinct departments of work under the general divisions preventive, educational, evangelistic, social, and legal. These cover every phase of the questions, and afford the widest scope for the work of our organization. I deprecate greatly the seeming attempt on the part of some of our women to ally the national Woman's Christian temperance union with the national prohibition party. I believe the larger part of our membership, and of our best advisers, deplore what they consider an unwise, unauthorized and questionable position.

Having been chosen by the national union superintendent of the department of legislative work and petitions, I must keep myself free from partisanship.

As an individual I cannot see the most sensible connections. Father James G. Blaine or Grover Cleveland will be elected as president of these United States. As between them I do not see how any christian can hesitate. Writing as I do from this city of Buffalo where Cleveland's home is, and where he lives, he has no home. I do not hesitate to say, as for me and mine, but it for the true husband, the honest father, the home and James G. Blaine.

Further than this, I do not believe the demand for national constitutional prohibition is the best embodiment of prohibition principles. The organization of the liquor traffic is not by either the letter or the spirit of the constitution, the upkeep of national legislation. It must come by states. Rum come in no other way unless by an armed resistance to law in the states. It should become necessary for the national government as a war measure to aid the states by military intervention. Reasonable resolutions touching constitutional rights must come by state legislation. No clause just as prohibition cannot be carried in a state till a considerable number of voters in the state are themselves prohibitionists, so national prohibition cannot be a practical issue until a considerable number of states are prohibition states. When three quarters of the states across the continent of the United States may be named, I will national prohibition be the rule of the land? It is sometimes argued that the thirteenth amendment abolishing slavery in the states, was submitted by congress to force the states but taken similar state action, but we remember that at that time there was a large majority of free states that they controlled the government, and carried on a great and terrible war. The question of slavery on its political side was a controversy between the states concerning which the general government had no constitutional legislation was the only court of appeal. The prohibition of the liquor traffic is not a question between states, but between the people of a state, and national political action is not at this time the proper court in which to try this cause.

I have taught the doctrine from ocean to ocean, and I now fall or stand on the applications of the truths I have taught. This is why I could not if I were a voter under the points of field for the nomination of the Prohibition convention. Those John P. St. John he has my high esteem my profound respect, and so of Mr. Daniel of whom I am honored by numbering among my personal friends. I believe they each were actuated by the high motives of disinterested patriotism. I simply do not agree with them as to this one method of obtaining what we all desire.

I do not see how there can be two opinions as to the duty of loyal prohibitionists. I have no arithmetic with which to estimate the mental caliber or the moral sense of any town man who claims to be for temperance and does not stand by the republican party, with the rights and privileges conferred by the "best man's plank."

The prohibitionists of Iowa, dwelling in the Chariots of triumphant majorities, even though their enemies be not yet all cast out, can hardly appreciate the weariness, even the bitterness of those still in the wilderness, with their children daily dying by the wayside. God has many ways of accomplishing His purposes; there are many battlefields in His great armies. Let us not sit in judgment upon those who differ with us as to what is the most effective mode of warfare at this particular point in the long struggle. But no friend be disturbed at this difference of opinion; let no enemy be rejoiced thereby; we shall keep the unity of the spirit in the bounds of peace," and in the final victory we shall rejoice together.

Yours, sincerely, J. ELLEN FOSTER.

THE RAT-CATCHER OF PARA.

The Best Exterminator of Brazil and the World Ho Does.

[Para (or Pará) Chronicle.]

The rat-catcher of Para is not a cat, an owl, a ferret, a compound of wire and springs, a paste of poison, a terrier, an ambitious boy with a borrowed shotgun and the fragments of three fingers on his left hand and otherwise mutilated and disfigured for life, but the best of the country, the Cobra, or boa constrictor. The great serpent is left at large in nearly all of the stores and warehouses and in several of the residences. During the day time it crawls off in the cellar into the hiding place of a section of lumber in the shape of a wood or lies in the store room behind the bales and boxes in the small hours of the morning it comes out in search of its prey. Its favorite haunt is the neighborhood of the rat holes, and it lies in wait for the rats as they come out in search of food. Sometimes it will crawl up on the counter and lie there for hours, apparently asleep, but with one eye open, watching for the rats. Sometimes it will crawl up on the counter and lie there for hours, apparently asleep, but with one eye open, watching for the rats. Sometimes it will crawl up on the counter and lie there for hours, apparently asleep, but with one eye open, watching for the rats.

The Cobra is not a poisonous snake, but it kills its victims by crushing them in its folds. It is a powerful snake, and will kill a man if it gets a good hold. It is a very active snake, and will climb trees and walls with great ease. It is a very intelligent snake, and will learn to know its master and follow him about like a dog. It is a very affectionate snake, and will show great fondness for its master. It is a very timid snake, and will run away from danger. It is a very harmless snake, and will not bite unless provoked. It is a very useful snake, and will kill many rats and mice. It is a very beautiful snake, and will be admired by all who see it.

The Cobra is found in the forests of Brazil, and is a native of the country. It is a very large snake, and will grow to a length of six or seven feet. It is a very strong snake, and will crush its prey with great force. It is a very quick snake, and will strike with great speed. It is a very deadly snake, and will kill its prey with a single bite. It is a very dangerous snake, and should be avoided by all who see it.

The Cobra is a very interesting snake, and will be found in many museums. It is a very valuable snake, and will be sold for a high price. It is a very rare snake, and will be found in few collections. It is a very expensive snake, and will cost a great deal of money. It is a very desirable snake, and will be sought after by many collectors. It is a very fine snake, and will be admired by all who see it.
